CHAPTER 1

THEORY

1.1.1. Introduction

The first part of the book is devoted to the theory of the subject.

The second part of the book is devoted to the practice of the subject.

The third part of the book is devoted to the history of the subject.

The fourth part of the book is devoted to the future of the subject.

FOREWORD

My father, Fenton Gall, died on October 27, 1948 of heart failure. He was eighty-six years of age and had lived a very full and useful life. On October 29, 1903, he married Carra Pew of Montepelier, Ohio and Washington, D.C. My mother died March 14, 1947. Both are buried in Fleetwood, Pa.

Because so many of our relatives went to school to him, a chronology of his life is included.

PREFACE

Fenton Gall began to collect and save information about his family as early as 1890. He concentrated on research on the Miller-Davis and Gall-Williams families several years before his death. I promised to publish the genealogies so we could share in his knowledge. The Miller-Davis Genealogy was published late in 1948.

The cooperation of many relatives has enabled us to secure nearly a full record of Gall-Williams' descendants.

Thanks are especially due to Mrs. Carl Deck (Nikola Shannon Gall), Wilmington, Ohio, who has been collecting data since 1940; to Mr. John F. Gall, Norwood, Ohio; to Mrs. Cloyd Smith (Mary Williams), Canton, O. and to all of those who searched old letters, Bibles, church records, tombstones or in libraries for names, dates and information to help complete family "Lines".

We appreciate the information on John Gall, brother of George Gall Sr., sent by Mrs. Neil Wood (Myra Gall) and Mrs. Oscar H. Barklage (Ina Nothstine).

The method of outline is simple. The children of George Gall Jr. are given numbers without exponents, the grandchildren numbers with an exponent 1, the great-grandchildren numbers with an exponent 2, etc.
b. (born) d. (died) m. (married)

Many can trace their ancestry back six or seven generations.

Our ancestor, George Gall's son, George Gall Jr., married, first, Susannah Nicholas. They had eight children. His second wife was Catherine Roads. They had thirteen children. Four of these children married Williams'. Hence there will be brief sketches on the Galls, Roads and Williams families.

The Williams' ancestors probably came from Wales or England.

The Galls and Roads were of German descent and probably came from the Palatinate.

THE GALL REUNION....since 1904... THE GEORGE GALL MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION.....

THE GEORGE GALL MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION....From the ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION...

This association shall be known as The George Gall Memorial Association, and its principal office shall be in Hillsboro, Ohio.

The purpose of this association shall be to erect a monument to the memory of George Gall, a soldier of the Revolution, whose grave is in "The Old Dutch Cemetery", in Brushcreek Township, Highland Co., Ohio.

Only lineal descendants of the said George Gall may become members of this association.

Each member shall receive from the association a certificate of membership showing his or her relation to the said George Gall.

This year, 1953, is the FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY of the GALL REUNION in Ohio and it is fitting that we have the GALL-WILLIAMS GENEALOGY at this time.

A GALL REUNION is held each year in Barbour County, W. Va., by the descendants of George Gall Jr.'s third child, JOHN GALL, who married (1) SARAH HAYES and (2) MARGARET ARBOGAST.

HISTORY

....Most persons familiar with history know that the PALATINATE, used in a geographical sense, existed in two territorial divisions, upper and lower, as early as the eleventh century. The Lower, Pfalz am Rhein or Palatinate on the Rhine was situated on both sides of that river and was bounded by Wurtemberg, Baden, Alsace, Lorraine, Treves and Hesse. The Upper, or Ober Pfalz, on the east, was surrounded by Bohemia, Bavaria and Nuremberg. The Palatinates were compelled to change their religion frequently to conform with the tenets of their rulers; being Catholic, Calvinistic and Lutheran successively. (Koeppen's Middle Ages.)

When Queen Ann, of England, through her ministers abroad began to aid the French Protestants and sent assistance to the Palatinates, in Holland, the exodus of the latter and many of the former followed.

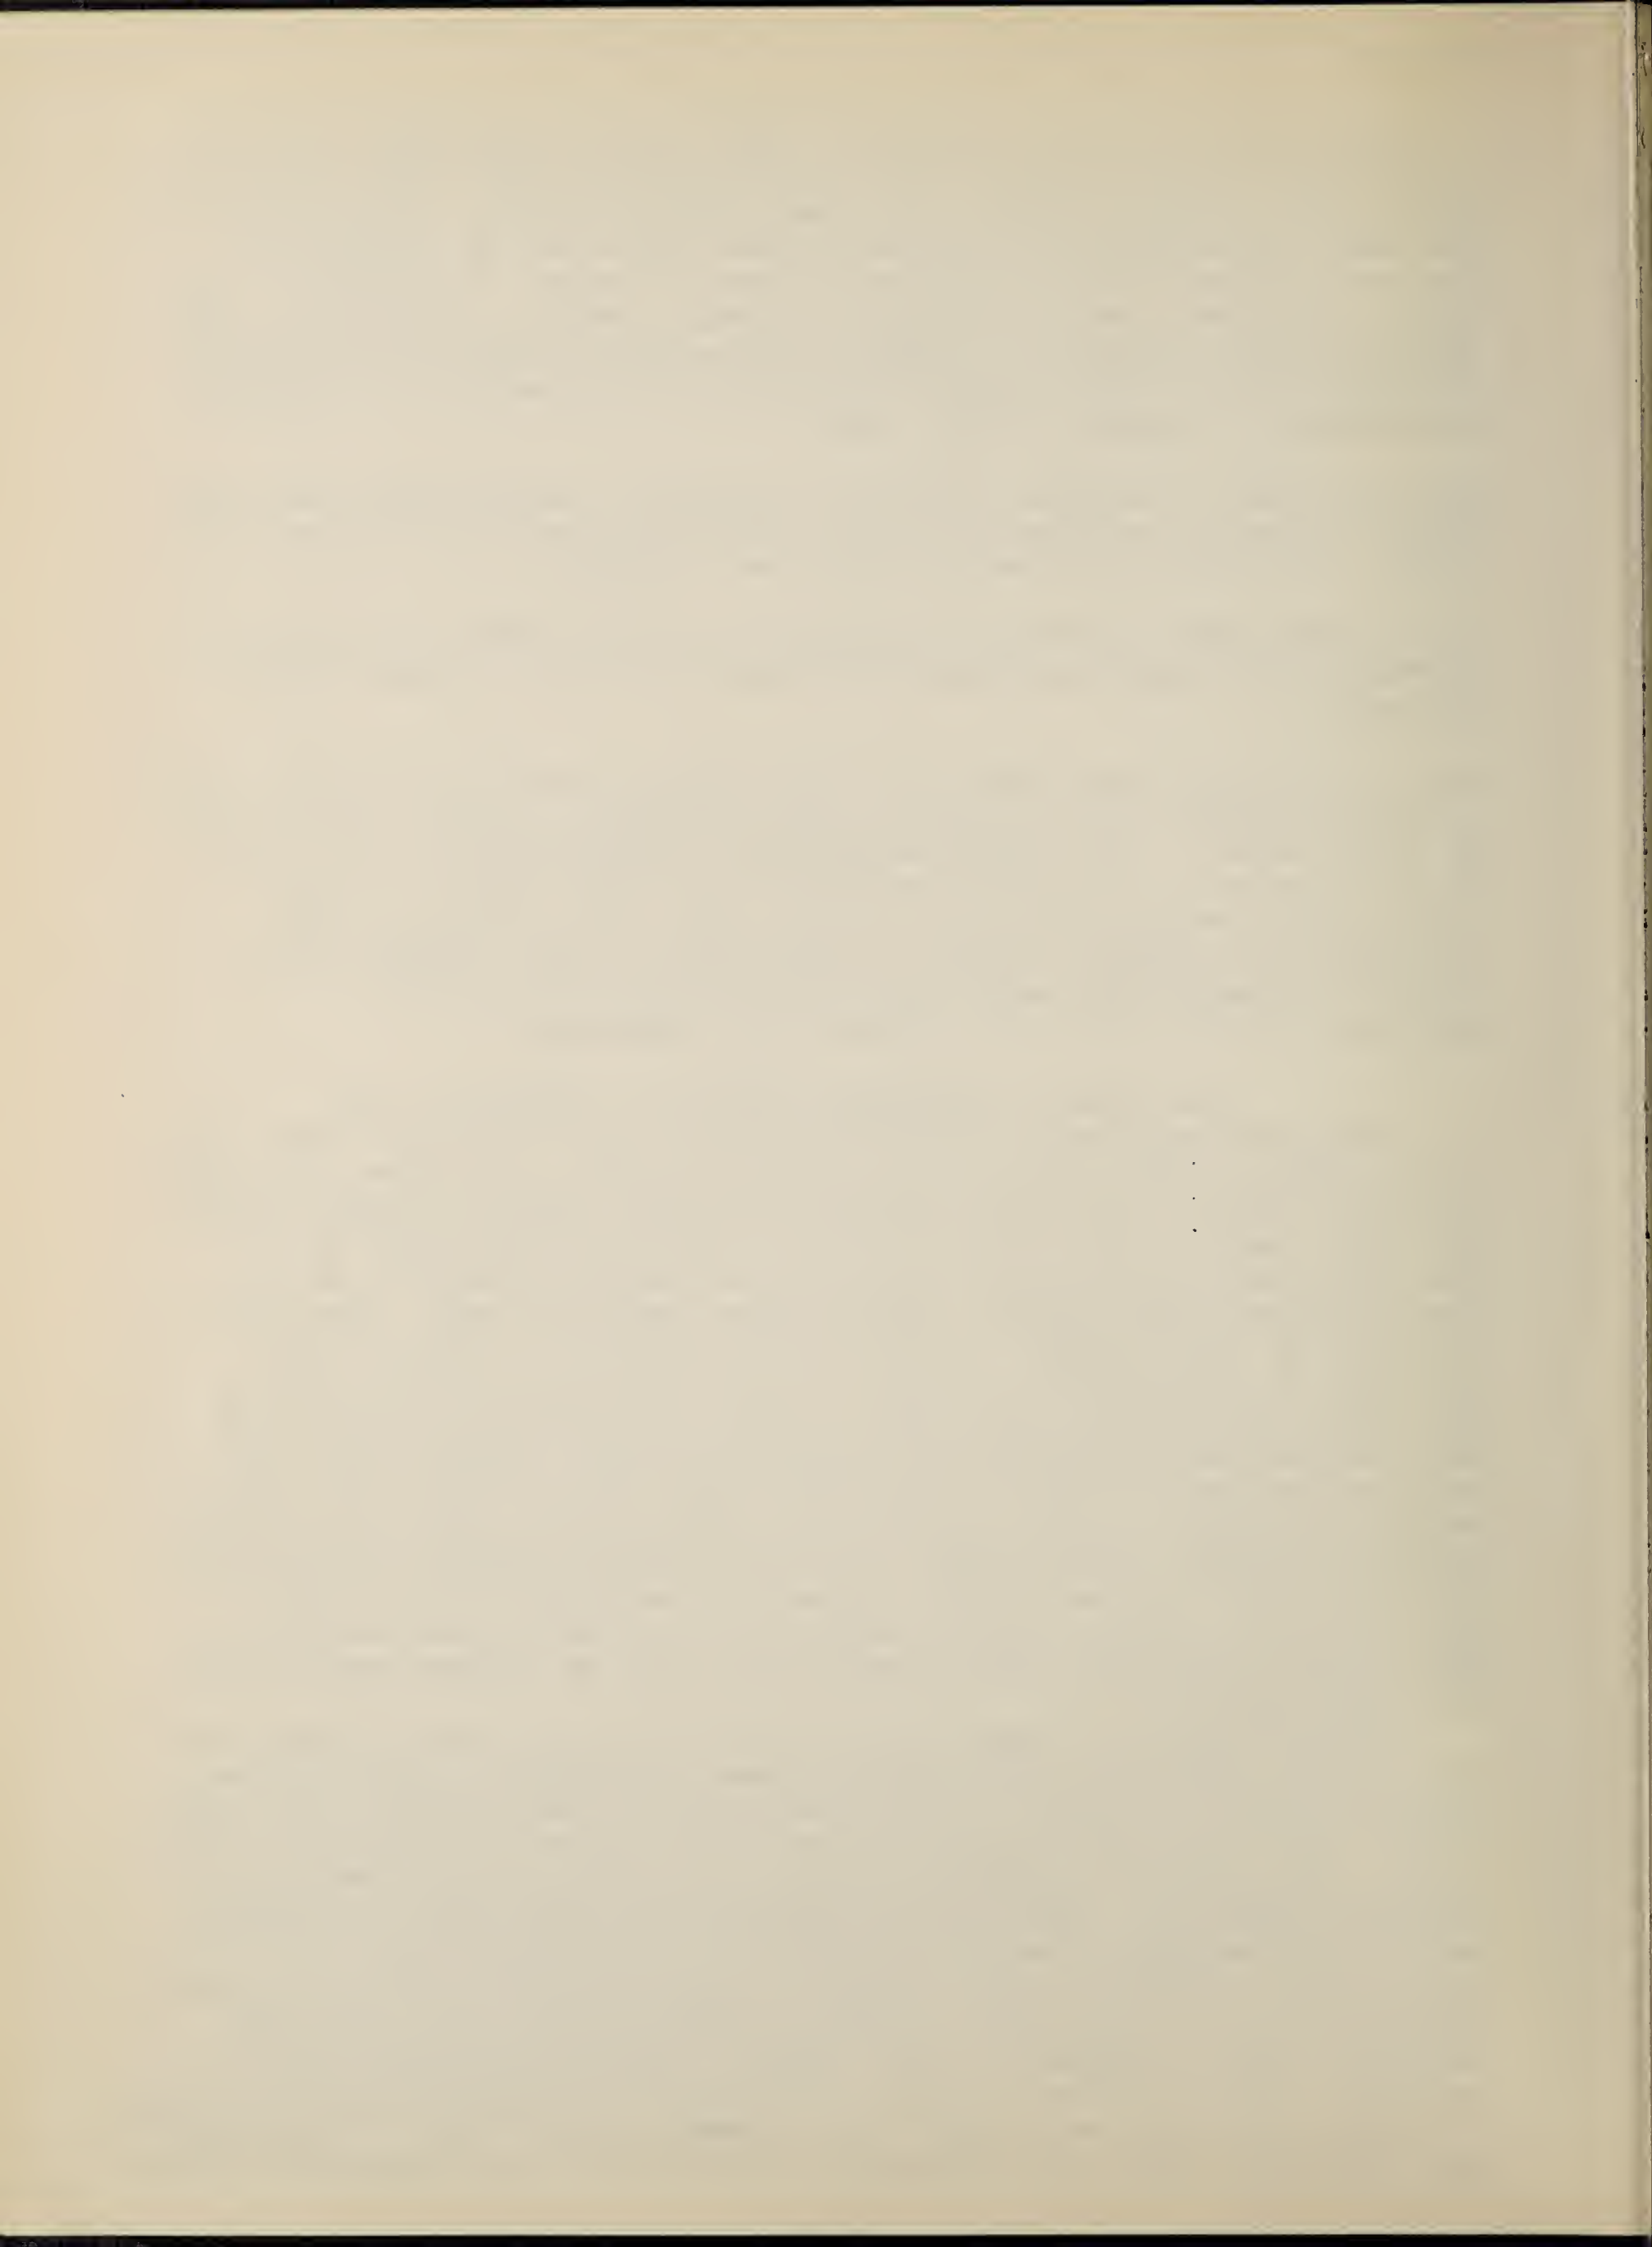

William Penn made two visits to Germany, in 1671 and 1677. Colonists were attracted to Pennsylvania through his agency and other colonial schemes followed.

Queen Anne donated land along the Braod, Saluda, Congaree and Wateree rivers in South Carolina, near the present site of Columbia, which is still known as "Dutch Forks". Rev. Joshua Kockerthall, who was known as the "Joshua of the Palatines" in 1706, at Frankfort, on the Main, wrote a volume extolling the wonderful resources of this land. The influence of his book and other pamphlets induced 14,000 Germans, French, Swabians and others to forsake their native land and cast their lot with the Palatines. (Vol. VIII, IX Pa. German Society Magazine.)

Blue Book of Schuylkill County, Pa...Elliott...1916

"When the agents sent out by William Penn came to Germany at the end of the "Thirty Years War" and gave glowing accounts of the homes that might be easily founded in the land across the sea, the poverty stricken, starving people jumped at the chance that was offered and made their way as best they could to the nearest seaports and started for England as the first stage of their journey to the new home beyond the sea. They went literally by the thousands. In May and June, 1709, the Germans began to arrive in London, and by October between 13,000 and 14,000 had come. The coming into England of so large a number of destitute people with no means of sustenance presented to the English people a problem which had to be met promptly. As Dr. Diffenderffer says, "Never before were emigrants seeking new homes so poorly provided with money and the other necessities of life to support them on their way as were these Palatines...From the day of their arrival in London they required the assistance of the English to keep them from starving. There was little or no work; bread was dear, and the only thing to do was to bridge the crisis by raising money by public subscriptions."

"A large amount of money was collected and by direction of Queen Anne, one thousand tents were taken from the Tower of London and set up in the country outside of London. In these camps many of the emigrants were sheltered, while others were housed in barns and warehouses, and some in private homes. The government took active steps to get rid of the foreigners as quickly as possible. Nearly four thousand of them were sent to Ireland, where their descendants live to this day." (Dr. Diffenderffer is of the opinion that if these German colonists did not actually establish the linen industry in Ireland they gave it such an impulse as to make it the most important textile industry in that country.) Many Roman Catholics who could not take the Protestant Oath of Allegiance were returned to the places from which they had come. About three thousand abjured their faith and eventually found their way into Pennsylvania and settled in the Tulpehocken region.

About 650 immigrants reached the junction of the Neuse and Trent Rivers, Carolina, early in 1710 and founded New Berne, named after the city in Switzerland from which their leaders came....After much trouble with the Indians, twelve families and fifty others went North in April, 1714, where they settled on the Rappahannock River in Virginia. Others joined this colony.

This was practically the beginning of the German emigration to America. A constant stream of German colonists followed, at first slowly, then in larger numbers, the greater numbers going to Pennsylvania.

By 1717 so many of them had arrived in that colony that alarm was excited in the minds of the authorities. In that year Governor Keith recommended that the masters of all vessels bringing in foreign passengers be required to furnish lists of all such persons and that the emigrants be required to take the Oath of Allegiance. Through this recommendation being, at a later period, enacted into a law a fairly accurate record of the number of German emigrants who came into Pennsylvania has been preserved. The records show that between 1727 and 1775 the number of Germans who came to Pennsylvania was 68, 872. (The German and Swiss Settlements of Colonial Pennsylvania, P. 57).

THE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE

"The General Assembly, of Pennsylvania, June 12, 1777, passed an Act requiring the men of the State to take an oath of allegiance and fidelity to the State. This oath required great courage on the part of those who took it, for if the revolutionary cause should fail, their property would be confiscated and they would be imprisoned."

In Berks Co. nearly every man took the Oath. The original lists contain about six thousand names. These men were formed into eighty or ninety companies, of sixty-four men each, and many of them in turn served sometime in the field. Of the men of Berks Co. who served in the Revolution scarcely 2/3 of their names are on record. (The Blue Book of Schuylkill Co....Elliott)

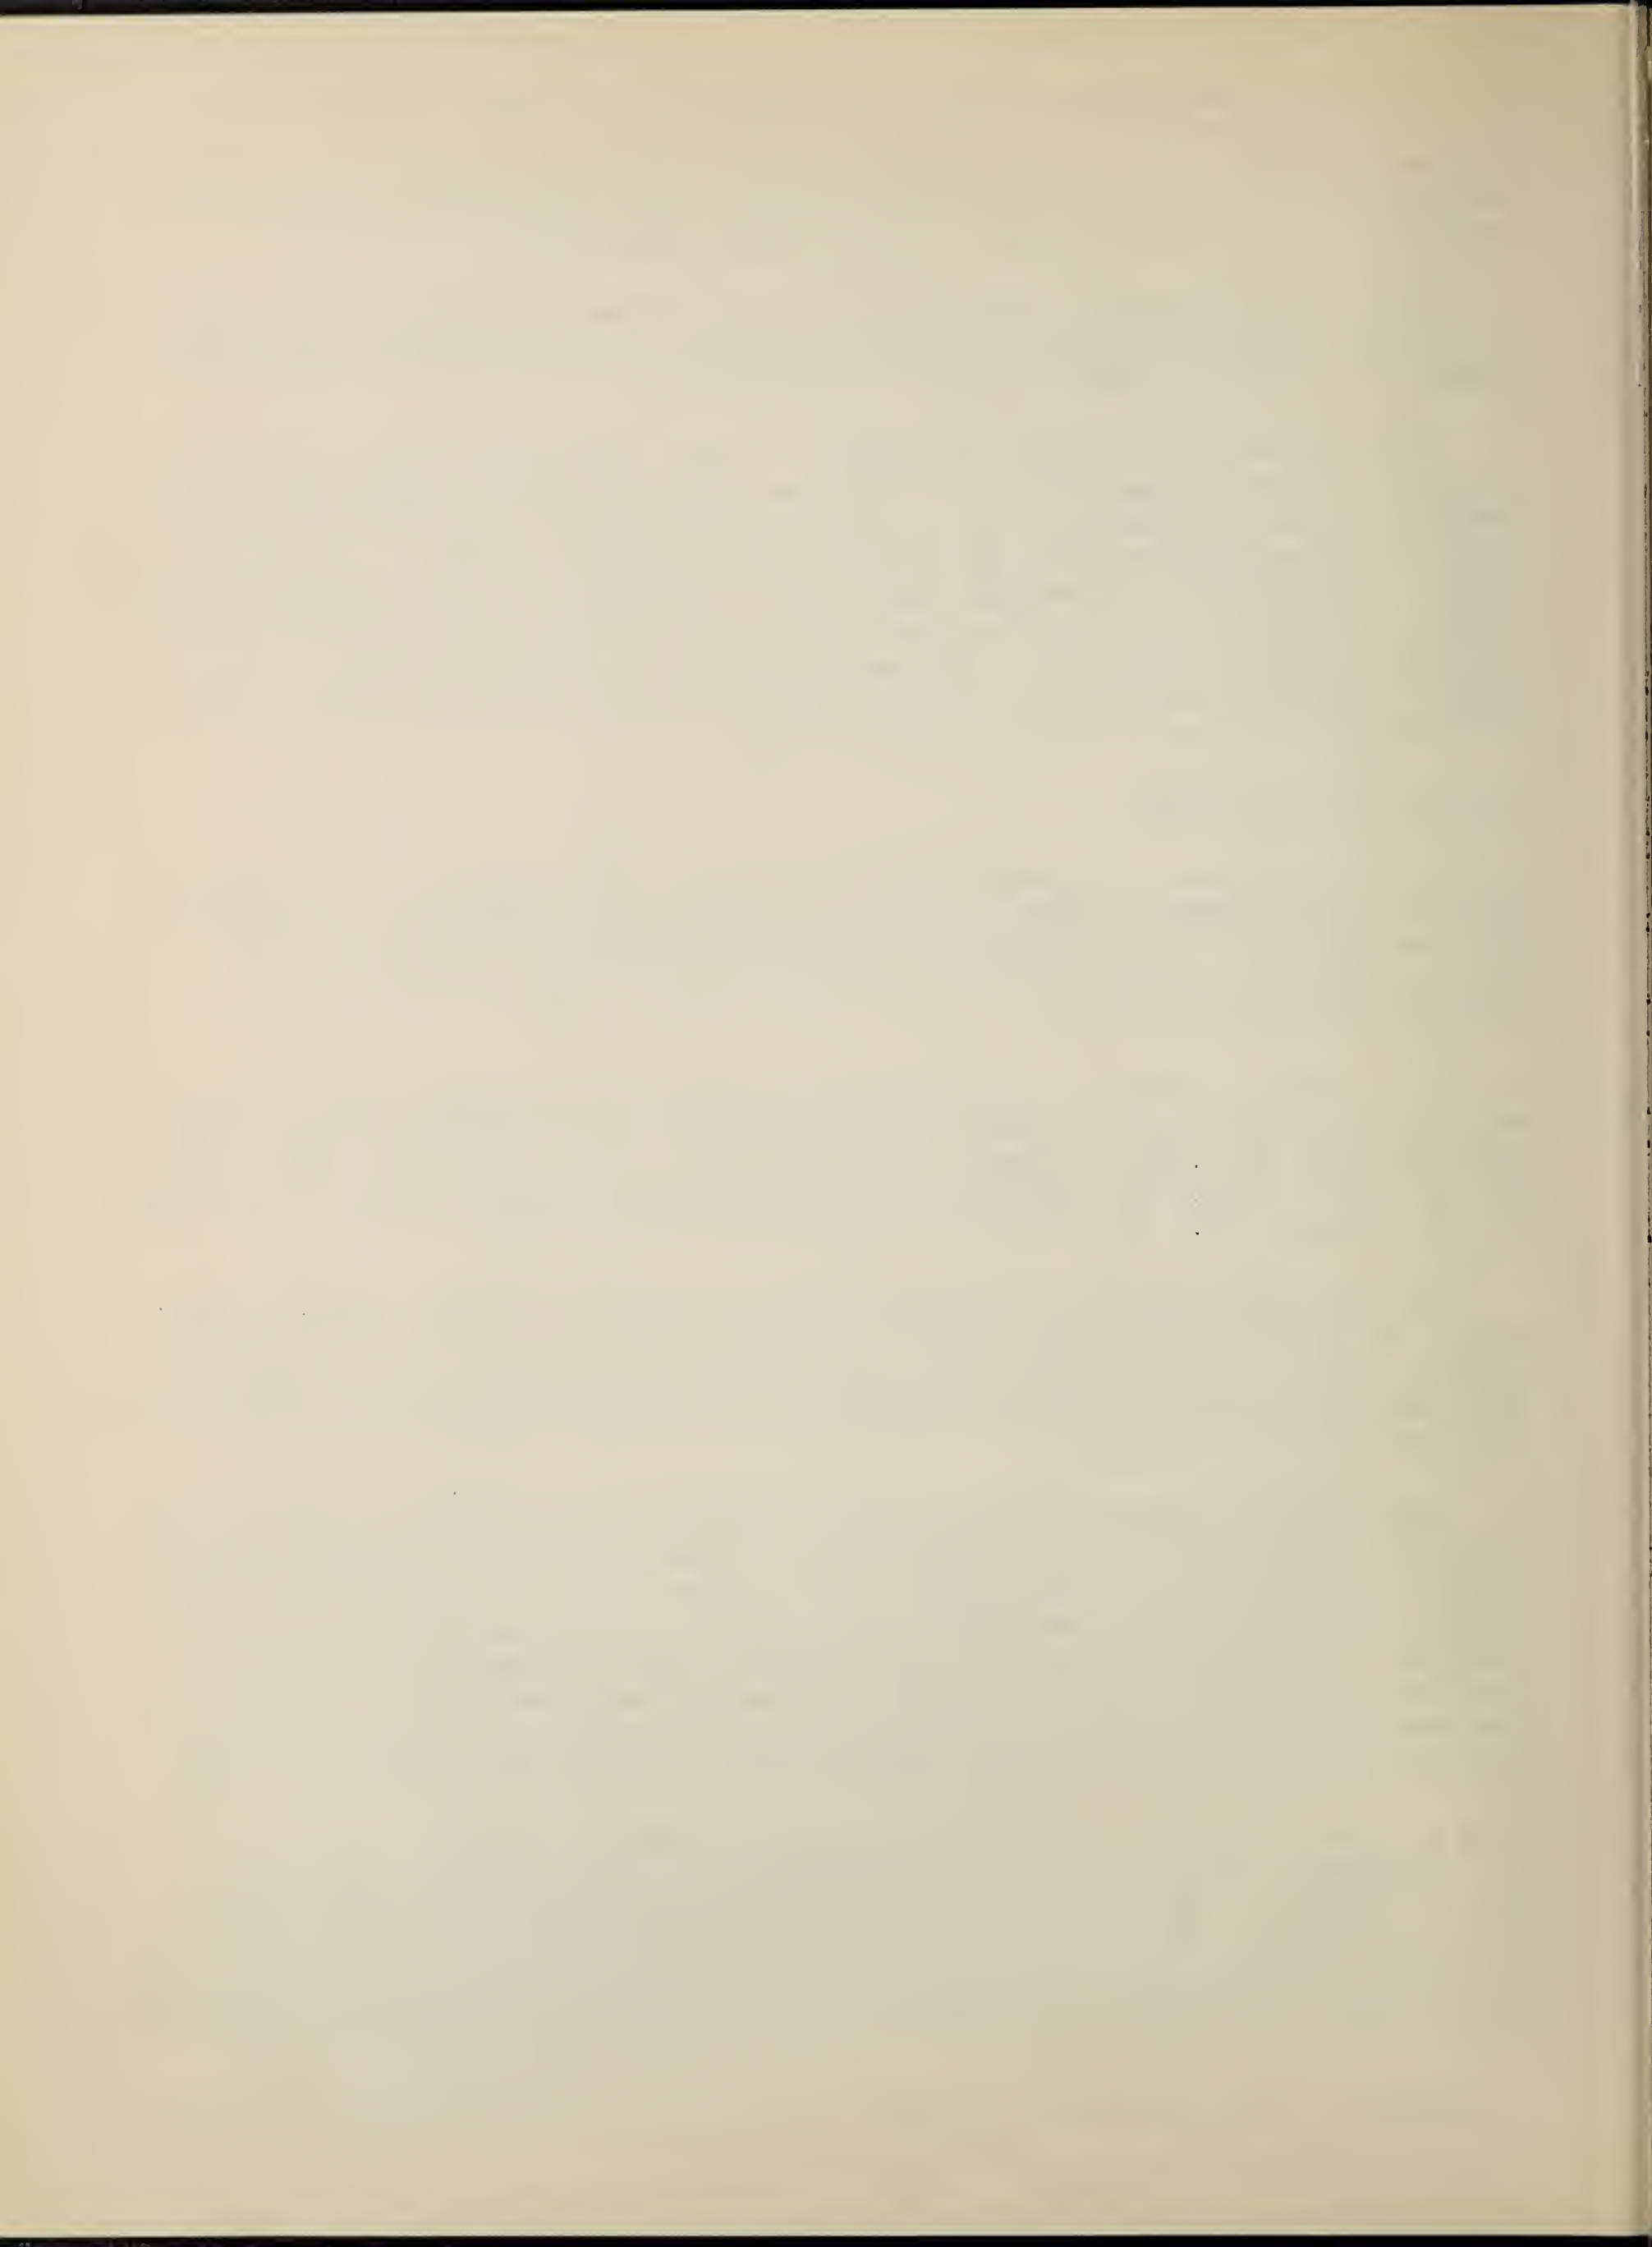

In 1732 the Governor of Virginia ceded to Jacob Van Meeter and John Jost Heydt, of Pennsylvania, twenty-five thousand acres of land, in the Shenandoah Valley, on the condition that they locate thereon two hundred or more families. This was acted upon and was the beginning of the great migration from Pennsylvania to that valley in Virginia.

There was no marked movement of the Germans from Pennsylvania into Maryland until the latter part of the second decade of the eighteenth century, and then one of the chief causes in bringing this movement was the indifference of the Quaker authorities of Pennsylvania to the safety of the inhabitants of the back countries. They were satisfied to have these sturdy Germans on the western frontier to serve as a barrier between themselves and the hostile Indians, but they were unwilling to go to any expense to provide the settlers with means of protecting themselves. (Pennsylvania Archives, first Series, Vol. I, P. 213).

From a letter from D. W. Gall to Fenton Gall, August 5, 1930:

"....The George Gall who was your grandfather was born in Berks County, Pa. which is known as the Dutch settlement, and my grandfather, John Gall, was a regular Dutchman. Although raised in this country, there were a number of words he could not pronounce in our English way, for instance, he would pronounce the word vinegar, as winegar...Evidently the Galls landed at Philadelphia and became early settlers of Pennsylvania..." (D. W. Gall p. 14; Fenton Gall p. 21)

("Dutchman", a "Pennsylvania Dutchman", means he is of German descent. O.G.N.)

BERKS COUNTY PENNSYLVANIA HISTORY.....

Berks County has one of the finest genealogical libraries in its Historical Society of any county in the country. But even with the help of its very capable archivist, Mrs. Leroy Sanders, research did not reveal anything about "our" George Gall.

The John George Gall below, looked ~~as~~ though he could be our George Gall, Sr. until we found his wife's father's will which mentioned "Elizabeth Catherine's four children by her first husband". It is doubtful if an eighteen or nineteen year old would marry a widow with four children for his first wife.

Information about JOHN GALL, third child of GEORGE GALL, Jr. and SUSANNAH NICHOLAS GALL, from a statement made by Francis Smith for Isaac Gall, Dec. 3, 1886, and a letter to Fenton Gall from Lafayette E. Gall of Freemansburg, W.Va. Nov. 20, 1899, and a letter to Fenton Gall from Phillippi, W. Va. March 7, 1928 from Mrs. Laura L. Ray, daughter of Burton Gall and granddaughter of John Gall.

"Francis M. Smith was the son of Louisa Gall, daughter of John Gall, who married E. S. Smith. He attended school at Ada, Ohio at the same time as Jimmy Gall (Uncle Addison's son) and came home with Jimmie. As his mother was a Gall he made himself acquainted with Jimmie and this is how I knew there were Galls in W. Va. This resulted in my visit to Phillippi, W. Va. to the home of Jimmie's parents in 1899. Later I visited Francis Smith's family near Ivy, Albemarle Co. Va." Fenton Gall. See p. 14.

Lafayette E. Gall wrote: (from memory) See p. 14

"My greatgrandfather (George Gall Sr.) came over during the Revolutionary War and enlisted in the army. He was killed on Long Island, N.Y. My grandfather, (George Gall Jr.) escaped from the British and came to Virginia. Uncle John, that is my father's uncle, moved to Franklin Co., Mo. after the close of the Revolution. George settled in Virginia and married there. His first wife died when my father was small, he being the youngest of eleven children. The second marriage also raised eleven children. They emigrated to Ohio and my father was left behind to come on later. He got as far as Harrison Co. Va. (now Barbour Co. W. Va.) and there stopped with his family. My father was drafted in the War 1814 and hired a substitute on account of the sickness of his first wife. Also Uncle George was drafted and went to Quebec under Hull. He was present when Hull surrendered the army. George, with others was bitterly opposed to the surrender and raised his gun to shoot Hull but Lieut. Lewis Cas jerked it down. George did not come home but volunteered to fight the Indians. My grandfather was at the surrender of Cornwallis, he went through the war."

"Uncle Jacob Gall moved to St. Louis, Mo. in an early day and died there."

"In 1809, George Gall, Jr. emigrated to Ohio with family, with exception of eldest son John, who stayed in Virginia, while Jacob went farther West to Missouri."

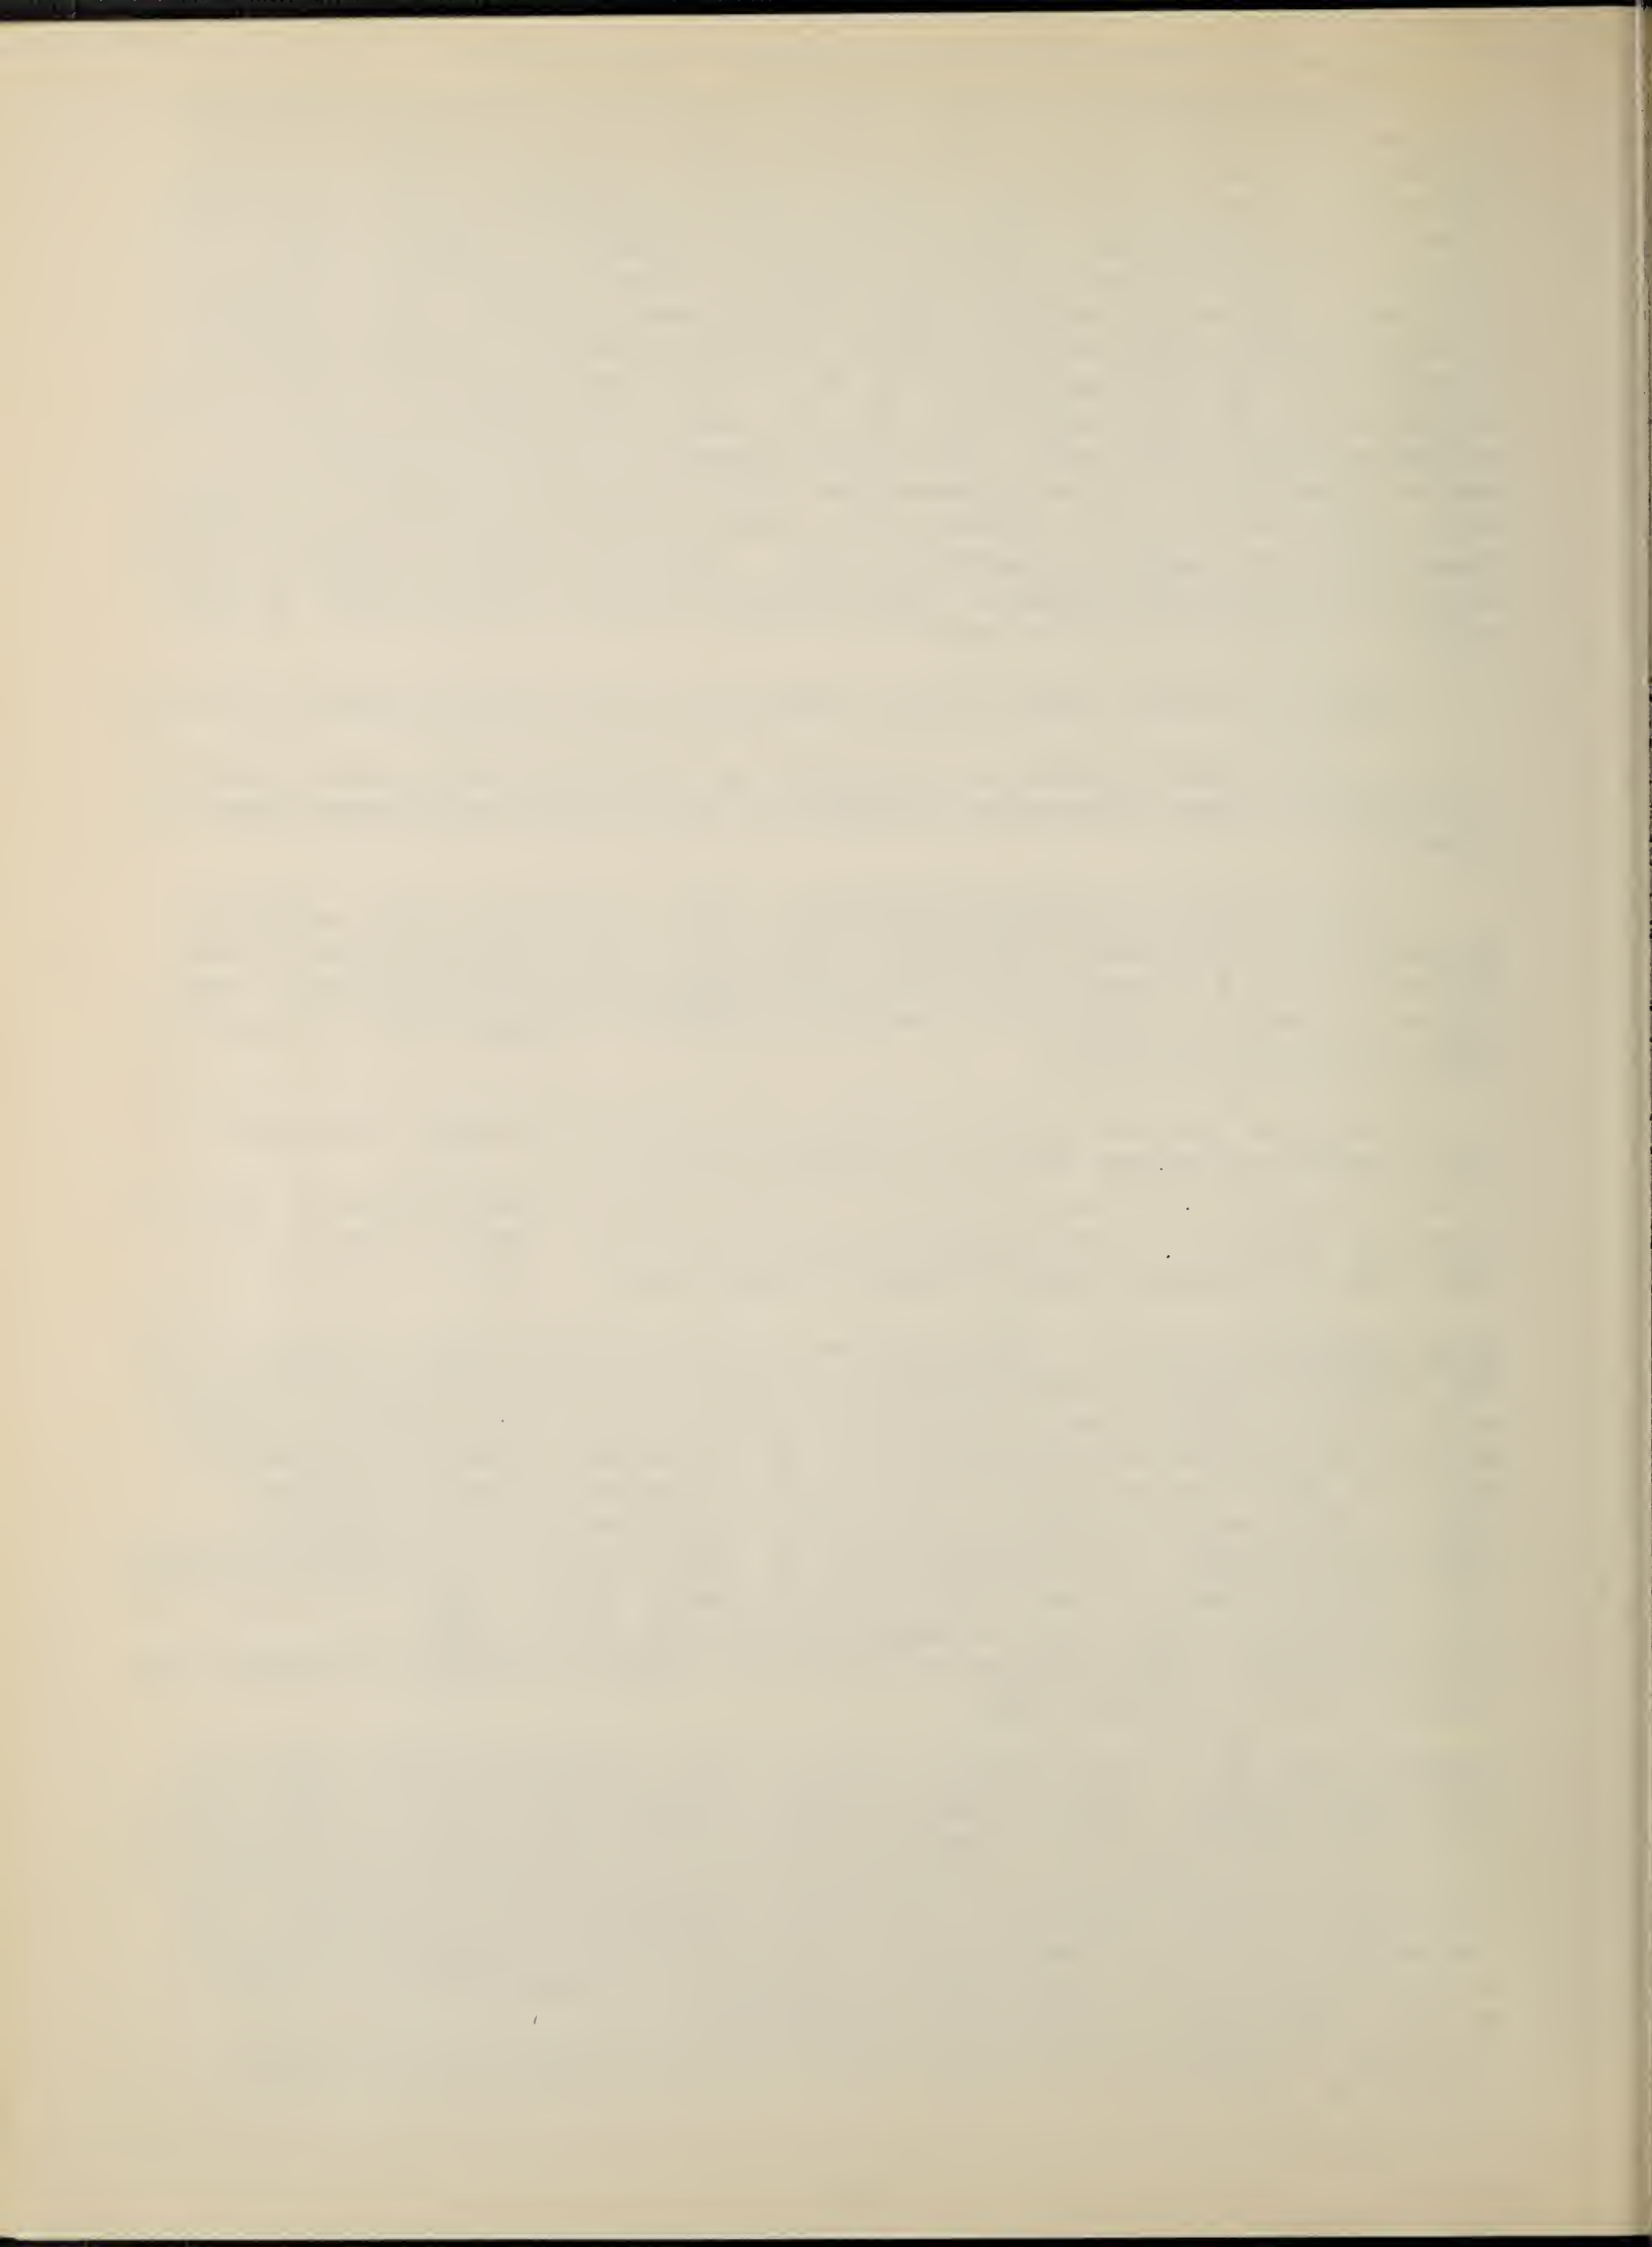

From a letter from Hampton Williams, (son of Catherine Gall and Henry Williams) to Vella Gall Satterfield: "About the year 1826 my mother's half brother (? O.G.N.) Jasper Poturve (son of George Gall Sr's first wife) rode all of the way from Virginia to see my grandfather (George Gall Sr.) when my mother was ten years old."

Also from the same letter: "Aunt Julia Ann and my mother took care of their father and mother in their declining years."

Roster of Soldiers of the Revolution buried in Ohio. Compiled under the direction of Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson:

GALL, GEORGE JR. (1766 - 1852) Enlisted from Rockbridge County, Virginia 1781 and served in Captain James Buckhannon's company, Colonel John Boyer's regiment Virginia Militia and subsequently served under Captain Charles Campbell. Marched to Yorktown and was present at the surrender of General Cornwallis. After the war he moved to Pendleton County, Virginia thence to Highland County, Ohio where in 1832 he applied for a pension and it was granted. I, John Gall, Sr. of Franklin Co., Mo. calling to mind the uncertainty of life and being now of sound and disposing mind and memory and desirous of making a disposition of my property and effects do make, publish and declare my last will and testament in manner and form following, that is to say:

1) I give and devise unto my wife Margaret, she surviving me for and during her natural life my dwelling house and furniture, both of the house and of the kitchen, and 1/2 of the land or tract on which I now live together with so much of my stock, horses, cattle, sheep and hogs as she may choose to keep, also the negroes and farming utensils or as many those of as she shall desire to have for her natural life and also $500 in cash.

2) I give and devise unto my son John Gall Jr., his heirs and assigns all the tract of land on which I now live, subject however to the life estate of my wife Margaret in the 1/2 as above including the version in the said half, after the expiration of the said life estate, which he will take possession of after the decease of my said wife or at the ending of her estate.

3) I give and devise unto Prudy Alice Hart, the wife of E. B. Hart and her heirs forever $100.

4) I give and devise unto Margaret Rilla Hart, wife of Joseph Hart $100 forever.

5) I give and devise unto the heirs of my deceased son Jacob Gall, $500 which is to be equally divided between the several heirs of the aforesaid Jacob Gall. It is further my will and I do hereby direct that all my stock and personal property of every description whatever excepting the property kept in the will, such as farming tools etc. be sold by my executors and the proceeds of the same after paying the legacies above specified given to my son John Gall Jr.

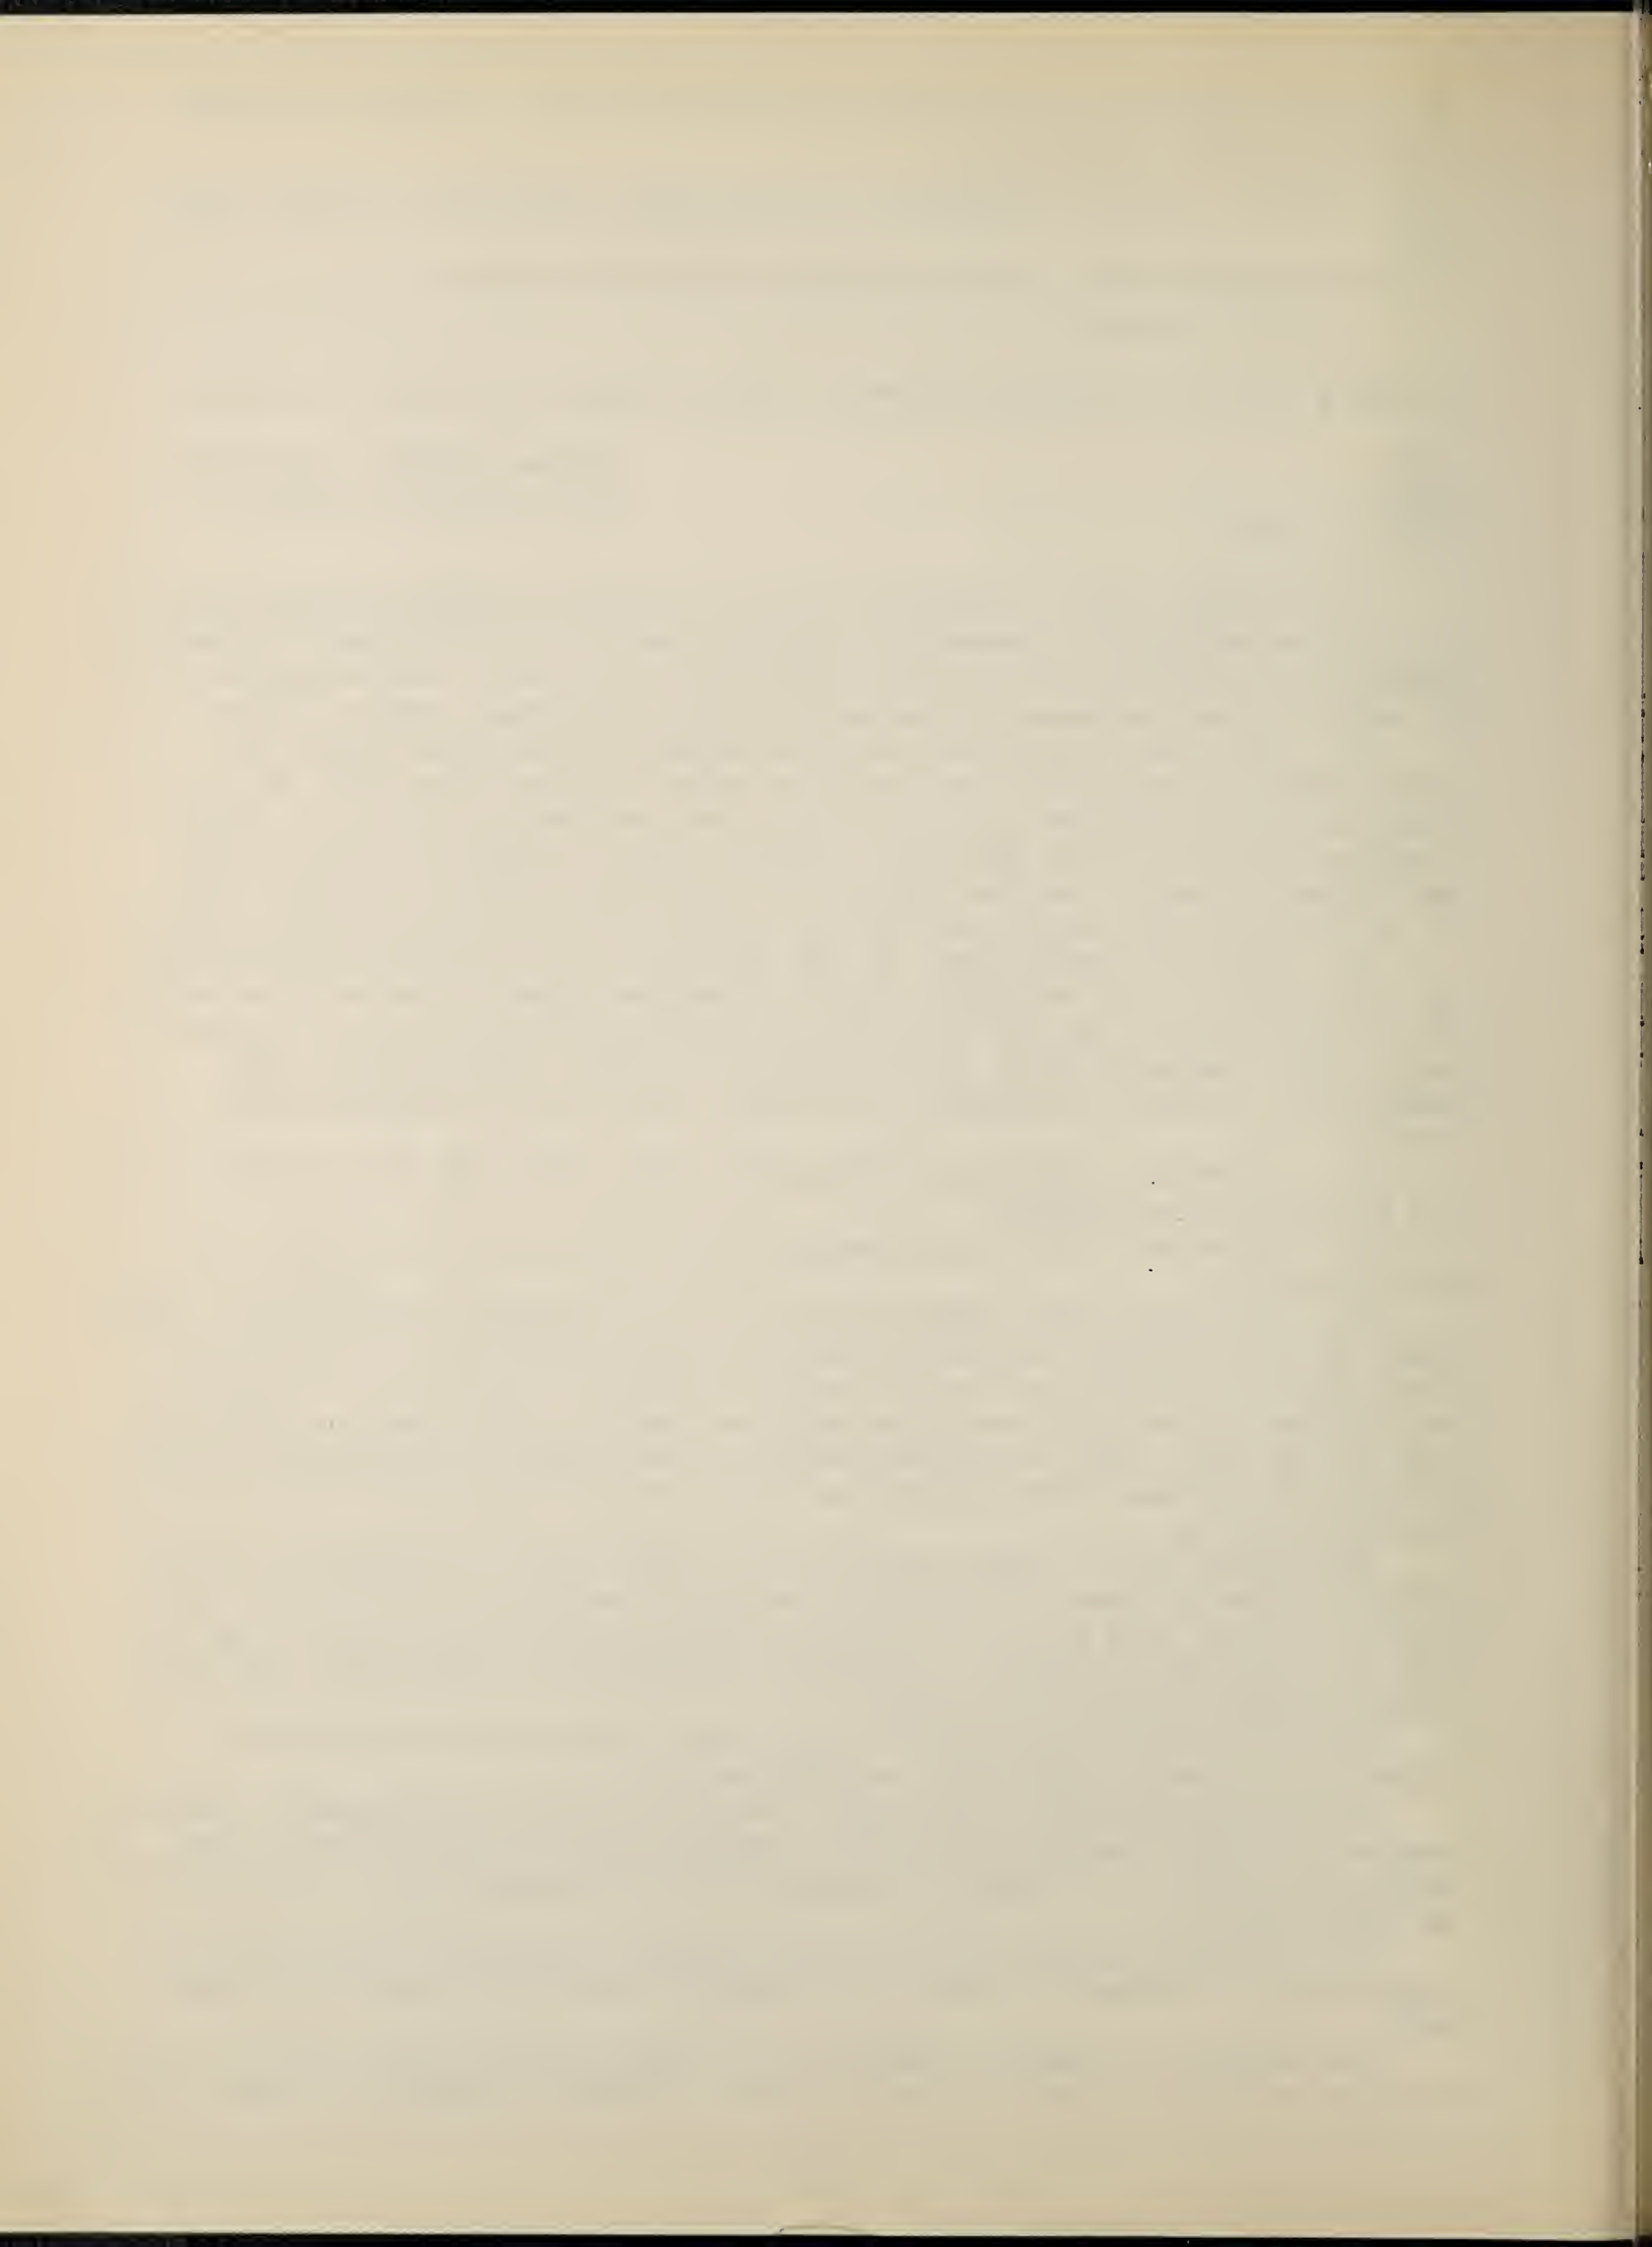

And wereas my two sons David Gall and Jacob Gall are indebted to me in different sums of money for advances and other accounts it is my will that they be each of them exonerated and discharged from all liability to my estate in consequence thereof, excepting as against my claims which they may hereafter make against the estate.

It is further my will that all my notes of hand be divided equally between my two sons David Gall and John Gall Jr.

It is further my will that after the death of my wife Margaret, that the negroes and their increase and other personal property bequeathed to her during her natural life shall be equally divided between my two sons David Gall and John Gall Jr.

It is further my will that in the division of the slaves that the girl Amanda and her increase are not to be separated but all to go to the same heir.

And lastly I do hereby constitute and appoint my son John Gall Jr. the Executor of this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills and codicils whatsoever.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal this 18th day of March, 1862.

ROADS (RHOADS, RHODES, RODES, ROTH) HISTORY

The Rhodes Family in America, by Nelson Osgood Rhoads, 1208 Merchant's National Bank Bldg. Los Angeles, Calif. 1920 (Feb.)

Pub. by The Seaforth Press, Balt. Md. and L.A.

Origin of the Palatinate Family....

During the reign of Louis IV (1643 to 1715) a large number of Huguenots fled from France to Germany, particularly to the Palatinate, which was a German
State until 1620, when it was divided into Bavaria and the lower or Rhine Palatinate.

At that time the name Rohde, Rhodes or other forms of its spelling, appears and continues to appear thereafter in the records of vital history of those countries. The coat of arms of the Palatinate families is a true composite of the German, and the French coat of Rodez. Descendants of these families are found in America. Although there were less than fifty emigrant ancestors there were in the 1790 census:

Rhodes, Va. 137 from original families

Md. 109 from Mass. and Rhode Island

Pa. 322 from original families

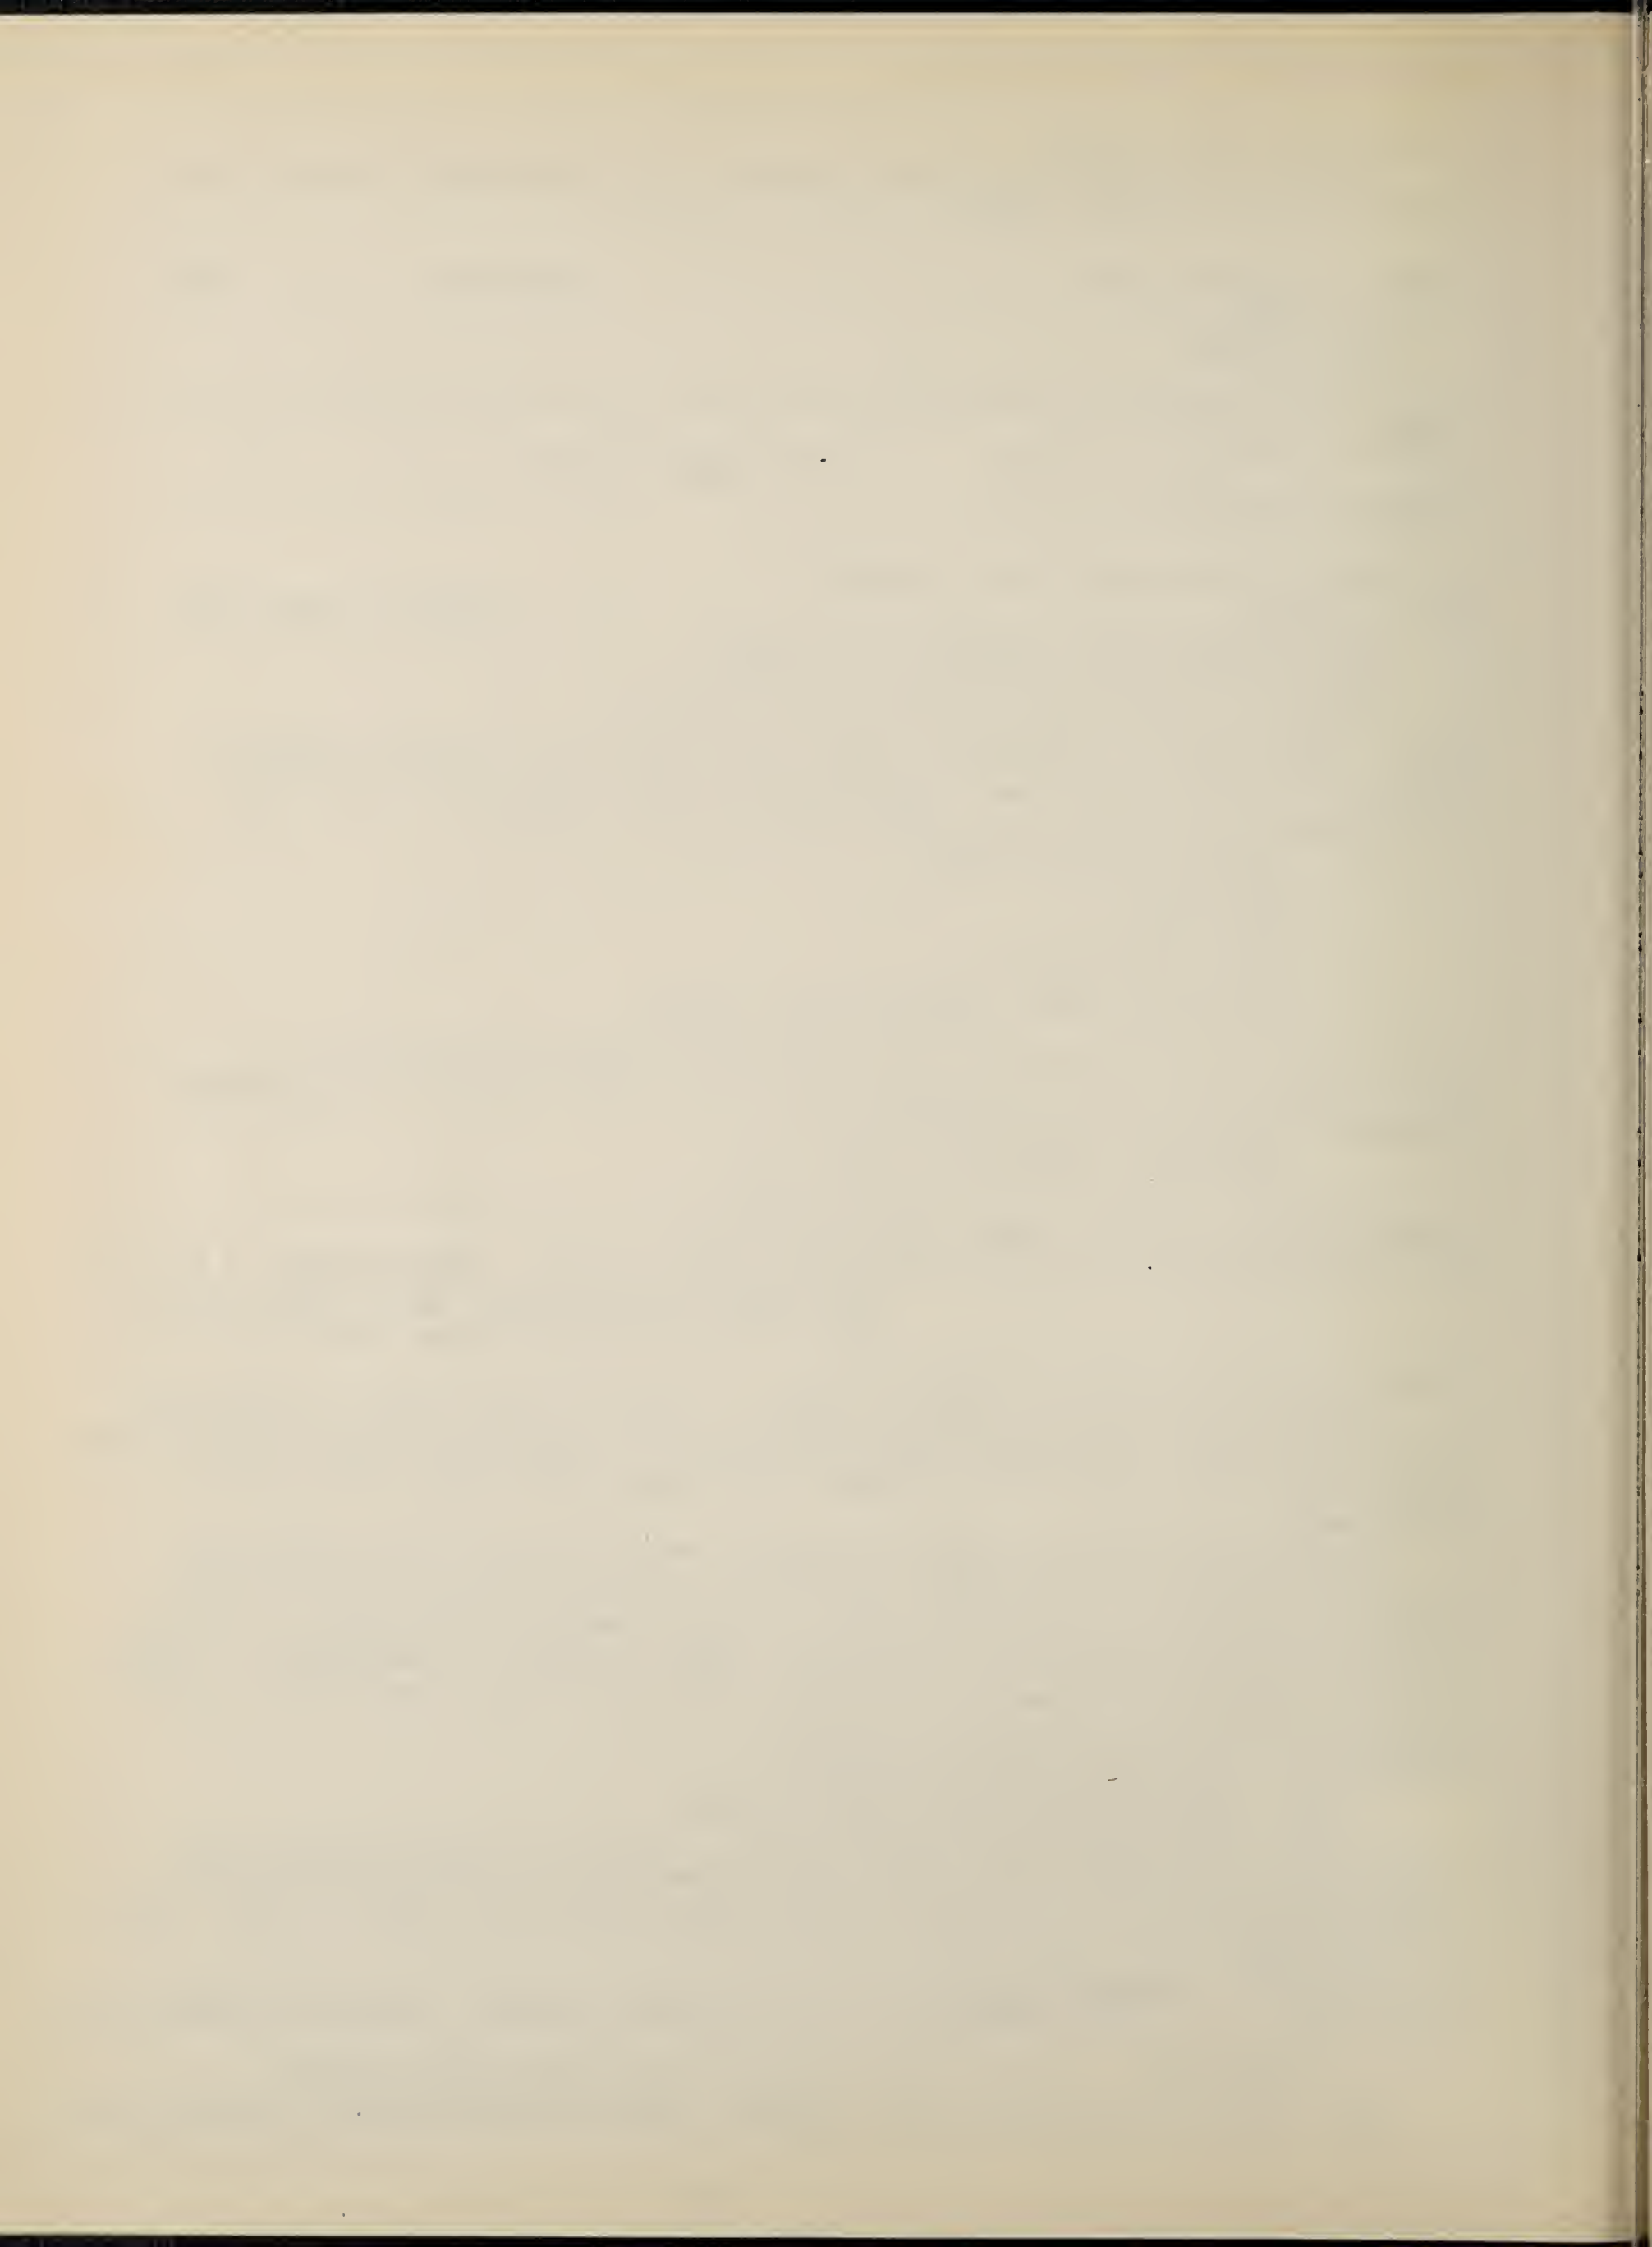

"John Rhodes of Virginia".....This branch came early to the Americas and became prominent in the affairs of the Colony, afterward found in Ohio, Tenn.
and Kentucky.

(*) History of Highland Co. Page 70:....."....During summer and fall of 1802 there were several families who moved into the present township of Brushcreek. Among them were Simon Shoemaker Jr. and his brothers Peter and Martin from Virginia. George Suter, James Williams, Jacob Roads, David Evans, Peter Stultz, Dr. John Caplinger, Captain 1812. John Roads all moved into the township in 1802 from Virginia and are now dead."

Page 146....."....The voters of Brushcreek Township in May 1807 were 98 in number including Elias Williams, John Roads, James Williams, John Miller, John Miller, Jr., Jas. Washburn, Jacob Miller, Jacob Roads, Joseph Hiestand, Peter Shoemaker, Peter Stultz, Jr. etc....."

(*) Because of conflicting names and dates of the families of James, William, Sanford and Henry Williams, an addenda will be added as soon as research proves successful. O.G.N.
